

Tarvin Gardening Society

Is your garden dull and boring between the end of the spring bulbs and the beauty of the high summer blooms?

You can find the ideal solution on

Tuesday June 16th 2015 at 8.00pm

at Tarvin Community Centre where Martin Blow will explain his way to

‘Mind the Gap!’

Martin Blow is a well-known and popular garden speaker, full of enthusiasm, passion and knowledge of his subjects. He recently appeared on BBC Gardener's World with Carol Klein talking about his passion for Heleniums, for which he holds the National Collection – and on which he gave Tarvin Gardening Society a fascinating talk last Autumn. Martin also writes for several national gardening magazines. This talk, “Mind the Gap”, is aimed at everyone interested in gardening and plants and deals with the choice of perennial plants to bridge the “flowering gap” between the bulbs and flowering shrubs of spring and vibrant perennials of high summer. Martin will use this talk to introduce some of his favourite perennials for use in the difficult late-spring and early-summer period.

Membership of the Society costs very little - just £5 per year. Members then pay just £1 each time they attend a meeting. Non-members are always welcome at our meetings and pay £2 each time. A hot drink and biscuit will be served afterwards.

Come along and see what you really can do with your own garden!
